On Monday evening, Oct. 8th, the people of Mount Pleasant, one of Rev. Jas. H. Jelbart's appointments, gave him a reception, and the same evening the Bellevue cornet band serenaded the Reverend and his family. The people of that section are well pleased with their new preacher.

There will be no preaching or Endeavor services in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening, but instead Rev. Johnson will give a report of the Christian Endeavor State convention now in session at York, Pa. The services will begin at 7:00 P. M. All are cordially invited to be present and hear the report.

"Crawford," the great pacing stallion, died at Dubois Saturday morning. He was taken to Dubois and entered the free-for-all race Thursday, but was taken off the track in the first heat on account of being lame and sick. The horse was owned by R. A. Stratton, of Conneaut Lake, Pa., who recently refused $12,000 for the animal.

Nature is certainly performing some queer pranks this fall. We mentioned last week that Mr. Arnold had a plum tree in bloom, and several days after the paper was issued G. M. Rhoads invaded our sanctum sanctorium with a large bouquet of pear blossoms, and said they have three trees standing close together that are full of blossoms. It is not an uncommon thing now to see fruit trees in bloom. Some people are getting tender lettuce from their gardens.

In a series of resolutions passed at the W. C. T. U. convention held at this place on the 3rd inst, which will be found in this issue, the ladies resolved to "rejoice in the defeat of Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge," and to "highly commend the action of the ladies of the Ashland district for their noble and public stand for purity and upright-ness." All honest people should condemn William C. P., or any other statesman who becomes so vile and asks honors of the people.

If you want to save your money, invest it in the German National Building and Loan Association of Pittsburg; it has advantages that no other association in the state gives. Inquire of Henry A. Reed, the shoe man, for particulars. Remember there is no entrance fee. It will pay you to consult Mr. Reed as he is thoroughly posted in Loan's and can show big inducements to the investor and borrower, and give printed matter fully explaining the workings of the Association.

The following officers of Guiding Star Lodge, No. 27, A. P. L. A., were installed by Mrs. D. M. Dunsmore on the 5th inst.: Worthy Mistress, Mrs. Carrie Hoppel; Worthy Deputy Mistress, Mrs. Agnes Stitt; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Armaogot; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Barkley; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. Minerva Thomas; Treasurer, Mrs. Matilda Burge; Chaplain, Mrs. Mary Copping; Conductor, Mrs. Mary Woods; Assistant Conductor, Mrs. Mattie Hoffman; Inside Sentinel, Mrs. Elizabeth Meese; Outside Sentinel, Mrs. Lavina McGrody.

Surprise Party.

A few of Wm. Barkley's friends were invited to his home on Jackson street Monday evening to attend a birthday surprise party. Mrs. Barkley got up the party unbeknown to her husband and he was surprised when he entered his home about nine o'clock to find so many friends present. Mr. Barkley received some very useful presents. Mrs. Barkley had prepared an excellent supper, which was served about ten o'clock.

Hard to Find.

S. E. Brewer, tax collector of West Reynoldsville, is having some trouble in collecting tax from some of the Polanders of that borough. The assessor had difficulty in getting their names, and now the collector finds, with the change of the season, their names change. Some of them are very impudent about it too. The assessor and tax collector of this borough have about the same experience with the Ikes and Polanders.

Cooper Ahead.

John Dean, a farmer from the Horn Settlement, brought in several potatoes that he thought were large enough to put on exhibition, and they were put in one of the windows at the Reynoldsville Hardware Co. store. Ninian Cooper saw the "murphies" and he put some on exhibition in the same window that made Dean's look small beside them. One of Cooper's potatoes weighed three pounds, just six ounces more than two of Dean's potatoes weighed.

Would Kick Anyhow.

An exchange shoots the following at the kickers: "If there was an ice cold lemonade spring on every farm and every village garden, if bread grew on sunflower stalks and every blade of grass was tipped with a $10 gold coin, a certain class of cranks would kick because there were no sticks in the lemonade, no butter and preserves on the bread, and because the grass did not produce $25 instead of $10 coins on the blades." Just such people can be found in Reynoldsville.

"His Nibs, the Baron."

This production, given last evening at the Opera House, has no excuse for existing except for the purpose of creating laughter, and from the hearty reception it received from the audience it deserves to be credited with having scored a success. There is some semblance to a plot in it, the details of which are presented with sufficient clearness to serve its purpose, as an amused audience does not care for consistency. The parts were all well assumed and the variety business in the second act was lively and pleasing.—Lowell, Mass. At the Reynolds Opera House Oct. 18th.

Business, Not Pleasure.

There is some talk of charging fare on the wagonette between Rathmel and Reynoldsville and issuing cards and the money to be refunded when the people buy goods at any of the stores. It is claimed that people who do not make purchases in town ride back and forth and crowd out those who do want to buy goods. The wagonette is not run for mere accommodation of those who want to come to Reynoldsville for the "fun of the thing," but it is to haul those who want to patronize the merchants of Reynoldsville. It is likely that some plan will be adopted soon so that only those who have business in town will ride in the wagonette.

Musical Treat.

The entertainment given in the opera house Friday night by the Knoll & McNeil Musical Novelty Co., under the auspices of the Keystone band, was a rare treat for the large audience that greeted the company. Miss McNeil, the cornetist, captivated the audience, and Miss Madge Colson, the pianist, won praise for her performance on the piano. It was advertised that Miss Colson would play any piece of music at sight that was given her. Miss Belle Arnold, who is a fine pianist, has a piece of music which is almost too difficult for her to master, which she took to the opera house with her Friday evening and gave it to Geo. Beck to give to Miss Colson, and she played the piece without a mistake. The company is so highly praised by the people who attended the entertainment that if they come this way again they will draw a packed house.

Robbers at the Tannery.

We mentioned last week that robbers had gained an entrance into the tannery office on the 7th inst, and were unsuccessful in getting money or any other valuables only J. D. Woodring's gold spectacles. It is evident that the robbers were not satisfied with their unsuccessful attempt for "boodle" and that they thought the company kept money in the office, for on Monday night of this week they broke into the office again and opened the safe and carried the inner box of the safe away with them and broke it open back of a stump a short distance above the tannery, but finding nothing in the box but papers that were worthless to them, they covered it up so the papers would not get wet in case of rain and then retired to their homes. There is no doubt but that both attempts to rob the tannery company was done by local talent.

Town Council.

A special meeting of Town Council was held in the council chambers on the 9th inst. All the members of council were present. The first business was the building of a new bridge over Soldier Run on Worth street. Motion to build the bridge was carried. It is to be a Queen Truss bridge. E. Foster is to build the abutments.

Paving streets was the next business. A motion was made and carried, that a committee be appointed to see the Borough Attorney to see what steps can be taken to hold an election—at the February election, 1905—for paving Jackson st. from Fifth st. to Tenth st., Fifth st. from Main st. to Jackson st., Tenth st. from Main st. to Jackson st., and Main st. from Presbyterian church to end of water main on East Main st. The request for opening the east end of Grant street was considered. Mrs. Rhoads and Mr. Wiley offered to give the borough land for the street, providing the borough build the fence and lay the new sidewalks required. J. C. Burns wants $500.00 for crossing his land. The same committee appointed to see the Borough Attorney about the February election for paving the streets, is to consult the Attorney in regard to the necessary steps to be taken in opening Grant st.

The location for room for Hose Co. No. 2 was discussed and held over until regular meeting night. The following locations were reported to council: Mrs. Rhoads' lot and barn $900.00; Ort Smith property $1,600.00; Chas. Ritzle 16 ft. and building $450.00; J. C. Ferris house and ground, all but fifty feet, $1,100.00; D. McCracken's old blacksmith shop, $1,300.00; Nolan lot $400.00; Jerry Heckman property, house and two lots, $1,150.00; J. C. Burns property, Atwater building, $2,500.00.

Called to Reward.

Ollie A. Rearick, wife of L. D. Rearick of Falls Creek, and oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hoon of Reynoldsville, died at her home in Falls Creek on Saturday, Oct. 13th, from the effects of a still-birth. Her remains were brought to Reynoldsville on the 1:42 P. M. train Monday and funeral services were held in the M. E. church, conducted by Rev. P. J. Slatery, and then all that was mortal of an affectionate wife, loving mother and a dutiful daughter, was followed to Beulah cemetery to await the resurrection morn. A father and mother, brothers and sisters, husband and two little daughters have been bereft of one of God's best gifts to the human race, a noble, christian woman. The deceased was twenty-nine years and one month old. She had been a consistent member of the M. E. church for seven years. She was a kind and peaceable neighbor and had the faculty of winning friends wherever she went. She had many friends in Falls Creek, a large number of whom came to Reynoldsville to attend the funeral. Mrs. Rearick was well and favorably known in this town and her funeral was largely attended by town folks. The church was filled. Mr. Rearick is in high standing in the I. O. O. F. and that order furnished a wreath of beautiful flowers for the casket. Mrs. Rearick was spoken of in the highest terms by all who know her. "In the midst of life we are in death." The bell tolls, the hearse passes by, and one by one the human family are carried to the silent city.

Break in Gas Line.

For the first time in five years the people who burn gas in Reynoldsville had it shut off on them about ten o'clock Saturday night and it was not turned on again until eight o'clock Sunday morning. Wood was in demand Sunday morning by the early risers to cook their morning meal. Those who remained in bed late found gas at their service when they got up. Degan & McDonald's men, working in the woods above Sandy Valley, fell a tree on the gas line crossing a little ravine and as there was nothing under the pipe to protect it, the fall of the tree snapped it asunder. The pipe did not separate and the power of the gas in the pipe forced enough through to give a small pressure at this place so that the merchants who light with gas were not compelled to close their stores for want of light. Once in five years is a good record, but as an accident may occur at any time, and cold weather is making haste in this direction, it would be well for people who burn gas to lay in a good supply of wood to use in case the gas is shut off some cold night. Some people found it very convenient to have a supply of dry wood on hand Sunday morning.

Team Ran Off.

The delivery team of Lawrence J. McEntire & Co., grocers, got frightened at the A. V. freight office last Friday afternoon and ran off and crippled the wagon up considerably. The horses were left standing without being tied and an engine shifting in the yard frightened the horses by blowing off steam. They ran up Main street to the store, out Fifth to alley, down alley to Fourth and were caught at Centennial Hall. There were a number of children on the street when the horses ran away, but they were not long in getting off the street.

A full line of lamps just received at H. J. Nickle's such as banquet, vase and glass lamps.

Courier Objects.

The Reynoldsville band, which was over here yesterday, was the subject of much favorable comment. It is the greatest band in this part of the State. The Excelsior band of Dubois, used to be entitled to that distinction, but the Reynoldsville band could now give that aggregation the 15-ball and beat it out with no extra exertion. So we are informed by a man who says he knows all about such matters.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

The Keystone band has been recyeling numerous complimentary notices this year for their excellent music, and the Dubois Courier must have squirmed considerably to see these notices, but could find no excuse to give vent to the pent up feelings of that sheet until the above notice appeared in the Spirit, then our neighbor, in a quarter column article headed, "Play, then do the boasting," takes exceptions to the assertions made by the Spirit, and says: "Taking full account of the past, all such stuff as the above is nothing more nor less than bombast, issued at a time when the excellency of the Dubois band is supposed to be seriously impaired." The Spirit acknowledges that the Excelsior band used to be the greatest band in this part of the state, but it is the present, not the past, that is now considered. It is too bad that "a disagreeing organization which resulted, unfortunately, in several of the members withdrawing and temporarily affecting its proficiency," but it remains a fact just the same that the Keystone is now a better band than the Excelsior. It is silly practice for the Courier to try to convince its readers that the Excelsior band is superior to the Keystone, and in the same article acknowledge that the "excellency of the Dubois band is supposed to be seriously impaired." Don't get discouraged; if the Excelsior practices hard it may become a "great band" sometime in the sweet by and by, but until that time don't try to rest on the reputation of the past. This is a progressive age.

School Notes.

Friday is arbor day.

A little over three weeks until the teachers' institute at Brookville.

Unwise, indeed, are the parents who will encourage their offsprings to remain away from school when they are punished for some misdemeanor, especially when the punishment is not severe or unreasonable.

The department of public instructions recommends the observance of Friday, Oct. 19th, as autumn arbor day and earnestly urges teachers to adopt a suitable program of exercises, including the planting of one or more trees.

The teachers in the Reynolds block are experimenting this week on not giving their scholars recess either in the forenoon or afternoon. The children have no place to play but on Main street, and for this reason they may be denied the ten minutes recess.

A schoolboy's definition of eternity: When our ships all come in, when the sea gives up her dead; when Father Time hangs up his sythe; when the heavens are rolled up like a scroll; when Gabriel blows the ram's horn; when the solar system collapses; when we find the lost Charley Ross and when Johny gets his gun; when society becomes pure, and "after the ball is over," then will be eternity.

Want Angels.

Some of Clearfield's young ladies talk of forming an organization, pledging themselves never to marry a man who is not intelligent, honest and industrious, good natured, cleanly in person and apparel, healthy, sober, a church member and a total abstainer from liquors, tobacco and profanity.—Lock Haven Democrat. If the society is organized what a lot of old maids Clearfield will have by and by unless a host of angels descend in that locality. Will the ladies who join the organization be allowed to powder, paint, color their eye brows, chew gum, gossip, backbite, wear false hair, be untidy, be too lazy to cook, wash the dishes and keep the house clean, spend all their husbands' wages, "gad" the streets and numerous other accomplishments the feminine gender acquire, or will they be angels too?

Reunion of 105th.

The ninth reunion of the 105th regiment held at Brookville last Wednesday, was a pleasant affair for all the old soldiers who attended. Brookville showed honor and respect to the veterans by decorating the town handsomely. Just after the noon hour the regiment marched through some of the prominent streets of the county seat. After the march a business meeting was held and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Sam'l Brillhart, of West Reynoldsville; vice-president, John M. Dinsmore, of Irvin; secretary, John M. Hays, of Reynoldsville; treasurer, W. H. Gray, of Brookville. The next reunion will be held at Punxsutawney. Among the old soldiers who went to Brookville and enjoyed the trip most was Daniel Sharp, of "sassafras fame."

James Kelley, at one time an engineer on the Low Grade Div. of the A. V. R'y, now a passenger engineer on Norfolk & Western R. R., with headquarters at Bluefield, Va., was in town yesterday hobbling around by the assistance of a crutch. About a month ago Jim's engine ran into a freight train that had pulled into a siding but was not in to clear. The engine, baggage car and one coach were somewhat demolished and Jim's left leg was broken and his left eye badly injured. Mr. Kelley is a brother-in-law of James Montgomery, passenger engineer on A. V. R'y.
